Avaya One-X Quick EditionOverview

Avaya one-X™ Quick Edition delivers intelligent communications to very small businesses and small branches of enterprises. Utilizing SIP-based peer-to-peer technology means that system set up and installation is dramatically simplified; plug the Quick Edition telephones into the LAN and they detect and configure themselves. In minutes all users have access to the most commonly used set of telephony features including voicemail, conferencing, and auto-attendant.

What's New With This Release

This first release of Avaya one-X Quick Edition delivers customizable business class communication features including voice mail, conferencing, and auto-attendant. Distributing the system intelligence to the telephone sets provides immediate business continuity. The simple design enables set by set scalability and investment protection. User benefits are clear - enhanced productivity, simple growth, easy administration, and low total cost of ownership.

Business Benefits

- Simplicity - Avaya one-X Quick Edition is simple to set up, configure and use. Adding additional phones is as simple as connecting them to the network. This built in simplicity reduces the need for technical onsite assistance, facilitates rapid installation and reduces costs.

- Low Total Cost of Ownership - With no centralized equipment to purchase set up or manage, the total cost of ownership of an Avaya one-X Quick Edition solution is lowered. As your needs grow, additional phones can be simply added to the network.
- Business Continuity – SIP based Peer to Peer eliminates single point of telephony failure, Each phone automatically back up each others features including voicemail, so if one telephone fails the others continue to work, providing embedded fail-over and business continuity.
- Investment Protection – Avaya one-X Quick Edition uses the 4600 IP telephones platform. Should your needs change Avaya will help you migrate to other solutions, keep your phones, change the software, and install Communication Manager / Gateway as your business needs demand.
